1. The unyielding attitude of the U.S. over the neutrality of the area of Kaesong has convinced the people of Mukden that the Chinese victory in Korea is phony. Also the continued flow of troops and supplies to the Korean front has increased pessimism concerning the likelihood of an actual cease-fire.
2. Middle- and low-level Communist political workers generally do not discuss the cease-fire talks, but in private conversations they exhibit a pessimistic attitude, saying the U.S. is insincere in desiring peace. Government organs and purchasing agencies in Manchuria have been continuing their operations at full speed, particularly working on air raid shelters and other emergency measures.
